Tax Rise To 16 Mills

PAHOKEE—On the crest of a wave of low keening, a group of local property holders Monday night cried the 1954-55 taxes down from a two-mill rise to a one mill.

City Council's budget session, with Councilman Loren Meredith still away on farming business, and the four other members present, resulted in a tax levy of 16 mills for the coming year, and the adoption of a budget of $144,533.80.

More than a dozen property-holders appeared, with fire in their eyes at the prospect of millage rising to 17.

W. A. Keen said "I think we are paying about all we can... Only a few have been paying the taxes. I feel that everybody should pay some taxes, and perhaps there could be some overhead cut down."

Reasons Told

Council President F. S. Parrish explained that the city's obligation for its $6,500 share in the proposed new $26,000 health center, to be built under the federal Hill-Burton Act, added to $18,000 for new sidewalks under the continuing sidewalk program, and minus some of 1953-54's expected income came out, tax raise.

Councilman James Harry Wilkinson, Jr., pointed out that far from more "overhead," the city's general operating budget is about $3,000 less than last year.

Inman Weeks rose to say, "All I know about this proposed tax raise is street talk. I'm here to see what are the facts and why the raise, and whether we can work something out without raising taxes."

Weeks said he was very much in sympathy with having the city, but not the county, in sympathy with keeping the whole tax load for it on a few people.

Mayor Lewis Friend reminded the assembled property holders that personal property taxes are not out of line, and that last year the city received less income from those taxes than from the cigarette tax monies, issued proportionately by the state.

City Limits

Weeks questioned whether expanding the city limits might not help the situation, in order to tax the Florida Power & Light plant and outlying businesses. Councilman R. B. Simpson noted that the property holders of Pahokee were given a chance at the income from the FPL franchise last year, which would have offset a tax increase, but that the city was not to have the franchise.

Weeks said if the city limits were expanded to include the (Continued On Page 5)

Kenaf Mill Is Discussed

BELLE GLADE — Building of the first kenaf bagging plant in the U.S. in the Glades is a possibility but not a probability until the Glades in particular and the county in general gets behind the planning.

This was the gist of the discussion of Alex Gutierrez, operating head of Shawano Development Corp., and 30 proponents of bringing industry here, at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

With U.S. supplies of jute at a low level, the industry is looking for a domestic source for the fiber, Gutierrez said.

First Large Industry

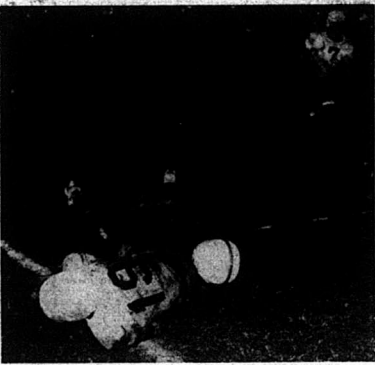

From the purely regional point of view, a kenaf bagging plant would be the first large industry—with an estimated 500 employees—in the Glades. The industry, it was pointed out, is ideal for the area due to the summer nature of the work of preparing it for market.

The big holdup to getting the plant, the representative group was told, is the need for public and legislative backing to get the U.S. government to support the kenaf program within our own continental boundaries.

Gutierrez urged that the per-

Still Too Early To Predict

The outcome of the season for the Belle Glade Rams and the Pahokee Blue Devils remained slightly unpredictable this week, with Pahokee Star Hal Rosenberg ruled ineligible to play and the Rams in good shape for tonight's game with Clewiston.

Although at OBSERVER press-time the final result of the Pahokee-Stuart game was not determined, Rosenberg's loss is bound to be felt if he remains ineligible the rest of the season.

Coach Calvin Peacock's boys, meeting Clewiston tonight on their own field, will not have the services of Bobby Jones, injured last week in the Ft. Myers game.

One of the only two teams to down Clewiston (12-6) last year, Peacock's Rams are out to do the same thing tonight, aiming to slow Top Suncoast Scorer Dick Bethea down to a stop.

Belle Glade 7 - Ft. Myers 0

FT MEYERS — Out of a weller of gold as in Rams and green, in Green Wave, Belle Glade emerged the victors in the Rams' first game away this season, by a 7-0 score recorded in the last seconds of play.

Fullback Walter Mosely moved to QB for the play that gave Belle Glade its touchdown, and regular QB Bobby Joe Thomas passed to End Harry McDonald for the winning point over Ft. Myers.

Coach Peacock's boys held the Green Wave unbroken until that all-important last quarter, when Billy Weber ran home. The extra point try failed, and when the Rams roared in with seconds to go, their 7 points did the trick.

Guard Ed Robinson added and abetted the touchdown trio. The Rams had bad luck in the first quarter when its touchdown was called back, and Bob Jones was injured during the game but was released from the hospital that night.

CURLEY CLEMENS NOW MR. FIXIT

BELLE GLADE — C.S. "Curley" Clemens, chief engineer for Radio Station WSWN, this week announced that he and Francis Miles are opening the Fixit Shop for sales and service of home appliances, radio and television sets.

Pahokee 20 - Beanyckers 7

PAHOKEE — The Blue Devils came back from their Clewiston opener defeat Friday night when they took the Pompano Beanyckers to the showers 20 to 7.

Hal Rosenberg and Chat Clark accounted for the three Pahokee TD's, with Rosenberg off the ground for the first time this season.

After a first quarter when Lair Field looked like the scene of a flag day display, with practically no play being completed at the merciless hands of the top Suncoast officials, the second quarter took a turn for the better. Chat Clark went 45 yards for the first TD, on a pass from QB George Mills. Rosenberg rushed the extra point.

After a sparkling halftime show, when the Beanycker and Blue Devil bands tried to outdo each other, the third quarter went along uneventfully.

In the fourth quarter, Rosenberg, Buddy Parker, and Pat Turbeville functioned beautifully, with the net result another score by Rosenberg and a Park-er to Don Waddell pass for the point. Pompano then went 76 yards for a score and made the point.

In the game marked by feeble kicking, Pompano then tied one which Pahokee recovered on Pompano's 46, and Rosenberg zoomed down the field to score.

UP AND UP IS MKT. RECORD

BELLE GLADE — A sale report going nowhere but up was heard by members of Glades Livestock Association at their meeting last night.

The fiscal year ending July 31 saw number of cattle sold through the market reaching the highest peak in the market's history, Manager George C. Young told directors. As of that date, 45,995 cattle had been sold through the market in the past year.

Previous years' totals were: 1951, 11,903; 1952, 21,053; 1953, 33,707; Young said.

New Board

At OBSERVER press-time last night, results of the new board of directors balloting were not yet known. Terms expiring were those of John L. Evans, president, South Bay; E. M. Van Landingham, Belle Glade, and C. Frank Wilcox, South Bay. More than 100 ranchers are now members of the Association.

The Association was incorporated in 1948, and started operation May 12, 1950, on property leased from Jose Moran and Leiland C. Pearce. The present property on Belle Glade-Pahokee Rd. was purchased Feb. 1, 1952, and has since added more than $15,000 in improvements.

In addition to making advance payments on its mortgage, the Association has paid a regular cash dividend each year since 1952. Since April of this year, the market has regularly held sales each week. Both Monday and Wednesday are now well-established sale days. From 20 to 25 people are employed each sale day and four employees are on a full time basis.

To Vote On PTA Meeting Time

BELLE GLADE — Whether to hold this winter's Belle Glade Parent-Teacher Association meetings in the afternoon or in the evening will be voted on by members at the Oct. 12 meeting, it was agreed at the first PTA board meeting of the school year last Friday.

The issue of when to hold the meetings will be the only business matter to be taken up next meeting, when the annual reception for teachers will be held at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

At Friday's board meeting, about 20 members were present, including Principal Frank Hobson, Principal Margaret Mosely and School Board Member Henry Earwood. Mrs. E. D. Humphries, president, was in charge of the meeting. Minutes of the last board meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Walter Thames. Mrs. Guy Wood suggested that the president appoint a committee to work with Mrs. Sam Knight to formulate the budget for the current year.

Mrs. Humphries announced the following committee chairman: pre-school, Mrs. Fred C. (Continued On Page 8)

REGISTRATION ENDS SAT.

County Registration books close at 5 p.m. Saturday, according to De Witt Upham, county supervisor of registration.

Glades residents can register at Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce until 11 a.m. Saturday and may telephone Mrs. George C. Young at 3017 to arrange to register in the afternoon.

Absentee ballot applications may be filed at Upham's office or Mrs. Young's office at the Chamber of Commerce as late as Thursday, Oct. 28, at 5 p.m., but the ballot, after it has been received and marked, must be returned to Upham's office not later than 5 p.m. Nov. 1.

Zoning Expert Due In Pahokee

PAHOKEE — Florida Planning and Zoning Association Executive Secretary Frederick H. Bair, Jr. will arrive Monday at Pahokee to advise on planning and zoning techniques and precedents.

The City Council and the zoning committee will hold a joint meeting at 10 a.m. that day to complete the agenda for Bair's consideration. Bair, a nationally recognized zoning authority, will advise the city on proposed re-zoning of Pahokee.

This was the earliest time that he could come since it was decided, in July, to retain him, also, the city has not had a sufficiently organized agenda of proposals until now to put before him.

ASC ELECTS

DOUGLAS, WILSON

Milton Douglas of Pahokee and Frank Wilson of South Bay have been elected chairmen of the Glades' two Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Community committees in the mail ballot which closed last week.

In the Pahokee-Canal Point Community Committee, Douglas, chairman, others elected were Lewis Friend, vice chairman; Lester Armour, Jr., regular member; Jim Mizell, first alternate; Mike Sanders, second alternate.

The Belle Glade-Chosen-South Bay Community, Doug Wilson, elected Leland Pearce vice chairman; Carl Barber regular member; O. G. McWhorter, member; Jim Mizell, first alternate; Mike Sanders, second alternate.

F. L. Anderson, of South Bay, was named vice chairman of the ASC community committee. Regular member, first and second alternates, respectively, will be A. R. Harrington, Canal Point; L. R. Braddock, Belle Glade, and George Wedgworth, of Belle Glade.

Chaperone your campfire. Don't let it go out alone!

LABOR SUPPLY TO BE GOOD

CANAL POINT — An ample supply of field hands from the drought-stricken states of Alabama and South Carolina is almost assured for the Glades this winter, according to L. V. McClelland, Glades farm placement representative for the Florida State Employment Service.

McClelland has just returned from a two-week labor recruitment tour in the two states, visiting many labor-recruitment offices and interviewing a large number of Negro laborers.

Many of the sharecroppers did not make enough money this year to tide them through the winter months, with both cotton and beans crops unsuccessful, said McClelland. On that basis, he received widespread assurance that plenty of help will be moving into South Florida this winter.

New Veterans' Officer Named

BELLE GLADE — With the transfer of Veterans Service Officer Leonard C. Brown from Belle Glade to West Palm Beach, Herbert E. Priest is replacing him in that position, according to Brown.

Priest is a Marine Corps veteran having seen service in the 4th and 6th Divisions in the Pacific. This position is a new venture to Priest who has been in farming with A. Duda, and with W. E. Schlechter as well as for himself. A company clerk in the Marine Corps, Priest has taken evening classes at Belle Glade high school in the adult education department to better prepare himself for his present duties.

Brown relinquishes his position today and the carcass will be has been familiarizing himself with his duties and veterans' cases for the past 10 days.

GLADES MEN ON FEEDING PANEL

Fritz Stein, Chosen, and Paul Thompson, Belle Glade, will be among members of a panel on steer feeding operations at the Livestock Producer's Field Day at the School of Agriculture, Gainesville Oct. 14 and 15, Agricultural News Service announced this week.

Grading of beef and hogs on foot and the carcass will be another phase of the event at the University of Florida Livestock Pavilion, according to Dr. T. L. Cunha, head of the department of animal husbandry and nutrition.

Local cattlemen and University of Florida instructors will appear on the panel with the Glades men. The steer feeding is set for Friday, Oct. 15.

Approximately 67 per cent of Florida is covered by forest land.

B. Glade Awaiting Decision

BELLE GLADE — City officials and planning and zoning committees are awaiting Circuit Court Judge Joseph S. White's decision in the Rader Properties v. City of Belle Glade action for injunction, which is due early next week.

Wednesday night's adjourned meeting of the City Commission could have resolved issues before it with more expediency if the decision had been in, according to City Manager Tom Carle.

Rader properties and Almax Inc. are plaintiffs in an injunction against the City of Belle Glade, and claim that certain of their properties should not be condemned and removed. Joe G. Cassell, one of three expert witnesses for the City of Belle Glade, under cross-examination by Attorney E. M. Bayne, said that the hearing, described structural defects in the plaintiff's properties. Belle Glade City Inspector N. B. Willis also testified as to existing conditions in the properties of the two complainants. Acting Mayor H. O. Carlton attended the hearing, which was continued on Monday afternoon, as did City Clerk Frank Anderson and City Manager Carle.

Both Commission meetings held during the week of the hearings had on their agenda applications for licenses to do business in places subject to condemnation proceedings. The commission, for example, ruled that a wearing of the license renewed on condition that sanitary and building requirements be met within 30 days or the license will be revoked.

Last week the commission renewed seven licenses upon condition that buildings where the license was issued be brought to standard. Carle asked the commission for a definition of policy on condemnation at that time in view of the hearings on policy decision could yet be reached.

Wednesday's adjourned meeting paid bills, the last in the 1954 budget year, amounted $64 to Clarence Throop due to overcollection of taxes based on a faulty specification, and demand for refund of beverage license fee.

Although the commission renewed four licenses for alcoholic beverage licenses and a (Continued on Page 8)

Lake Harbor PTA Has 1st Meeting

LAKE HARBOR — The Lake Harbor Parent-Teacher Association held its first regular session at the school last week with the president, Mrs. Fred M. Cato, presiding.

The major project for the year was to be held at the school cafeteria and to purchase a 23 foot deep freezer for the cafeteria.

Plans were started for the annual Halloween Carnival which will take place Thursday, Oct. 28. Plans will be completed at a later date.

Vacancies created by the resignation of Mrs. Polly Winnie and Elbert Hester were filled with the election of Mrs. D. D. Hemphill as vice president and Mrs. Edna Smith as treasurer. The attendance prize for the month was won by Mrs. Elsie McNeil's third and fourth grade home room.

The teachers were honored at a banquet of the business and industry. They consist of Principal Lloyd Williams, Mrs. J. B. Ott, and Mrs. Elsie McNeil. Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. B. Mathis and Mrs. Betty Carlton.

The original academic gown was a "decant habit," a full length of dark cloth which, with the skirt, was required dress for students in most medieval universities. The hood was a common part of civilian dress and had no special significance.

Sept. 17, 1954—Our week in Australia has gone very well. Most of the time we were in Brisbane, a semi-tropical city on the east coast.

We were always spotted as Americans and asked where we came from. Although American servicemen doubted that Brisbane population during the war, Americans are obviously popular with the Australians. In fact, there is one elderly beach salesman who regularly visits the brass plaque marking the sight of Camp Cable to see that it is properly polished.

Because we were visiting friends we were able to see the Australian housewife's side of things. As might be expected, fresh fruit and vegetables were abundant. Pineapples and bananas are grown locally and are excellent.

Some items are below U.S. standards. The green peppers we saw were rather small and rough, but in general everything was of a high standard. Peas and beans run about 23 cents a pound, carrots eight cents a pound, and green beans six.

drinking frozen orange juice expensive we don't remember the price of fresh oranges at home. Here they run about 10 cents a dozen. In hotels the orange juice is canned!

We were intrigued to see how the groceries were delivered to the housewife. Sugar and flour are measured into paper bags; eggs are wrapped in newspaper and put in a bag with a paper packing in a bag with wood shavings. There is talk of trying out regular egg boxes soon.

Milk comes in pint and a half bottles. Anything not already in a box or container is wrapped in newspaper. Since this is rather tedious, the housewife shops with a strong bag or basket to bring her purchases home.

One evening the dean of the veterinarian school at the University of Queensland showed us some color movies taken in the cattle country north and west of Brisbane. The high table land looked much like our western ranges, though with more trees and unfamiliar wild life (kangaroos and emus). They have been experimenting with various breeds of cattle, including cebus and in some areas have imported Santa Gertrudis stock.

They have also tried to raise grain sorghums, but after heavy investment in machinery they found that the soil was not suitable. However, farther south, in New South Wales, two Texas varieties imported in 1947 have been doing very well.

We were sorry that we could not visit the real cattle and sheep country where the stations or ranches are spread toward the King ranch or the Collier holdings.

The big difference between these Australian ranches and their U.S. counterparts is the fact that there are no towns and that a few whites aided by highly skilled black stockmen comprise the only population for miles around. Roads are considered good if a car got through in the past year. The cattle are used as pack animals (mostly British Land Rovers) and two way radios to keep in touch. We were told that wool prices were so low that one man who "ran" 60,000 sheep had received $13.50 a fleece at a recent shearing.

Back in Sydney we saw the plane for Singapore, we were taken on a drive through the suburbs and to the beaches. As little as five miles from the center of town are the first of the 60-odd crescent-shaped beaches that stretch north and south of Florida Celebrities:—When the National Celebrities golf tournament was played here last week-end, only four members of Congress were invited to enter, two Republicans and two Democrats. Both of the Democrats were from Florida: Sen. George Smathers and Con. Syd. Herlong. No reason was given for the selections. Maybe because they both played with President Eisenhower; maybe because they are both pretty good golfers; or maybe because they are just plain old-fashioned celebrities in their own right.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL: According to the best sources that we can find, no Member of Congress from Florida ever has served on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Maybe that will be changed next January. Counting strongly on the Democrats returning to power, Congressman Syd Herlong has been quietly rounding up friends of his in the House who have promised to vote for his membership on this committee.

Up to now he has lined up fellow Democrats who have agreed to support him.

CONSISTENT RECORD: Sen. Seward Hoggard's near perfect record in the senate took a slight drop when he attended the Pan American Road Congress in Caracas as official U.S. representative. He missed six votes to give him a percentage of 97.5 per cent. He still has one of the highest records, but in 1950 he had 100 per cent; in 1951, '52 and '53 his record was perfect. But, on the six votes he missed, he was "paired" on three and on three his standing was unopposed.

The Sydney harbor itself compares with Seattle (except in climate) for hills, flowers, and good and easily accessible golfing and in addition has countless golf courses and tennis courts. Tennis courts, incidentally, are a feature of even the smallest rural school. And now off to the mysterious East.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON—More observations upon looking back at work during the Congress:

A VICTORY FOR LATIN AMERICA—My amendment resulted in a $5 million increase to the $25 million proposed for technical assistance for Latin America in the final passage of the Mutual Security bill. It already has been reflected in a more actively sympathetic attitude on the part of those conducting the program.

I recently had a most interesting and fruitful conference with the director of program planning for Latin America in the Foreign Operation Administration.

In World War II, we had no worries at our back because our good Latin neighbors stood guard, in addition to furnishing us critical materials where we were cut off from previous sources. U.S. citizens have some $7 billion invested in Latin America, and we have been doing seven-billion-dollar business among our "Good Neighbors."

Next, the cocker yaps some more: "Your first recollection of flying to Carson City, Nev., at the age of six weeks.... There is a slight interruption to the program here, I become somewhat ill at the memory and have to be given time to regain my composure."

Yapping cocker again: "You move into the Flying M.E., a ranch with a swimming pool and many dog-lovers. You are petted and cared for, and although too young to gamble, even in Nevada, you lead a very happy life, visiting with your dog friends each night at the Old Corner Bar, barking at the ranch visitors each day...."

No. 1, who rides out from the wings on a horse and leaps off dramatically into my basket, inuring himself slightly because he is out of practice at riding.

The cocker yaps on: "Here is the person who is responsible for bringing you success and happiness, Schatzi, here she is to pay honor and tribute to you tonight!"

At this point the boss murmurs off-camera, out of sound range "Got your column for next week written yet?"

Then the dad-gum narrator continues, never pausing a moment for breath: "And then, Schatzi, you moved to the East, to a rolling farm in Virginia...."

Camera pans to a large bull, glaring and snorting....and here is Helmsman, to reunite with you, his dear friend...."

Helmsman lumbering up toward my basket, and I get slightly nervous because as I thought even cocker spaniels would know, Helmsman always hated the sight of me.

But the show continues (interminably, I am beginning to believe) as the cocker burlies: "You were happy in Virginia, Schatzi, running rabbits on the hills, growing fatter and more spoiled each day.... but then, as it must to all dogs, came the hand of fate.... you moved to Florida, and YOU HAD TO GO TO WORK!"

Here the camera picks up Boss No. 2, carrying what seems to be a blunt instrument—and in a way it is. It is a typewriter in a case.

"And so here is your life, Schatzi," yaps the cocker, "Here you are, working each day, on a

every year. Properly developed, the western hemisphere can be made entirely self-supporting—simple reason for our decision to "get on the ball!"

TREATY TROUBLES:—A number of people have written me to intercede in the case of two servicemen in France who have been sentenced by French courts for stealing a taxicab while on a weekend leave in Paris.

This case was discussed recently by Commander Charlie Mills who is a Legion Post commander at Miami. The boys were called into the armed services authorities under terms of the "Status of Forces" treaty which was negotiated by General Eisenhower when he commanded NATO forces, and was ratified by the Senate last year on recommendations of Pres. Eisenhower.

I voted against this treaty. Although all but a handful of senators went along with the President, I felt and still feel that the Constitution and the Laws of the United States should follow the young men called into the armed services wherever they might be sent.

I am having some studies made as to the effects this treaty has had upon our services in the NATO countries. I am still convinced that this type of treaty is ill-advised. The Senate has no authority to set aside such a treaty. However, if it is found that conditions under it are extraordinarily unfavorable, I propose to urge that the President ask for its review.

The Treasurer's report for the fiscal year which ended June 30 shows that the United States went further into the red, $3 billions, compared with a $9.9 billion deficit the previous year. We are far from a balanced budget.

Reducing Foreign Aid:—The time finally has come when a definite slackening off of foreign aid spending may be expected. Last year there were ten amendments offered in the senate to reduce this program, and I voted for every one of them. This year, I joined with Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana in seeking to cut $1 billion off the foreign aid authorization bill; encouraged by Long followed this with an amendment to reduce the program by $500 million and this carried by a vote of 45-41, with the vote borne by your Florida senators.

With pressure from the administration, the extent of this cut was modified, but is my conviction that the effect will be to continue the downward trend in direct aid, with a greater emphasis upon technical aid.

At this point, burst into tears and howls, overwhelmed with the tragedy of having to work for a living.

The program closes with me huddled miserably in my basket, and the sound of my whines is broken only by the noise of muffled laughter from the audience.

At this point, burst into tears and howls, overwhelmed with the tragedy of having to work for a living.

ROBSEVATIONS

By
BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

Democracy's greatest weakness lies in the strength of its elections. The great crises of the past decade have arisen at the dates of national elections. Those powers that seek to weaken or demoralize the United States plan their moves at a time when we are off balance because we are concerned with issues and candidates.

It is not always an international complication that catches us at election time. It can just as well be a national issue that is loaded with implications. Whether Russia falls into Germany, or thrusts into Korea, or fingers a machine gun in Peking, or whether there is a decision to hold over the McCarthy censure proceedings until after the polls are closed, is of little importance. The central theme is fear that the voter will be influenced.

That is why the greatest weakness of democracy is in its strength at election time. The great issues are often postponed until after election.

It is true of course that in this weakness there may be a strength. It is likely that more moderate opinions, more accurate judgements, and more unbiased pronouncements will be handed down after a cooling off process. Certainly the electoral system permits frequent periods during which postponements are possible and a calmer atmosphere available for rendering a verdict.

Probable the final answer to the query, How then does the elector get educated to the questions asked on the ballots. The voter's own decision, not a canned decision, will make the ballot a strength rather than a tool of manipulated weakness.

LOOKING INTO THE FACTS...

This series of feeding notes is brought to you from the pages of FEEDSTUFFS, a weekly publication for the feeding industry.

EARLY FEEDING . . .

One of the main conclusions in a report by A. J. Brooke and Lillian Vincent, Journal, Royal Agriculture Society of England, is that in beef production the nutrition during the calf stage influences the animal throughout its life.

The report, result of a beef production experiment conducted at Cambridge University, England, covers feeding practices during the first year. It further concludes that a little good food fed to a young animal, when maintenance requirement is low and growth is made more economically, is of far more value than a great deal of food fed to the older animal.

Notes: CONSUMERS FEED brings you these facts from the experts as a service to the evergrowing cattle industry of the GLADES.

USING DDT
DDT, although poisonous, can be used widely and safely if normal precautions are taken.

Florida farmers should be careful when applying DDT to food or fodder crops. Applied directly to the portions of a plant which are to be eaten, such as vegetables, DDT may result in poisoning.

It should not be used on dairy or beef cattle for the substance may accumulate in the milk or in the animal's tissues. Use of oil solutions on pets should be avoided. The powder should be used only where the animal cannot lick it off.

DDT should never be stored in food cabinets or medicine chests. If for kitchen or dining room is to be sprayed, all exposed foods, utensils and working areas should be covered. Children's toys or cribs and rooms occupied by sick people should not be sprayed.

Wear a respirator or tie a handkerchief over your nose when you have to be exposed to large amounts of DDT dust, especially if excess dust cannot be carried away by the wind. Protective clothing should be worn when there is the possibility of greaser and oils softening the skin thereby giving the dust a chance to be absorbed.

Farmers involved in large scale spraying or fogging with DDT should wear respirators and other protective devices. Smoking is to be avoided during the spraying if combustible mixtures are used. Cover exposed parts of the body with greaseless skin lotions if there is anything in the solution which may irritate the skin. Be sure to change clothes and take a good bath when the day's work is done.

Remember, too, that the oil solutions of DDT should never be used around fires. It is inflammable.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Blind Man's" Bluff

You know how Handy Turner down at the hardware store goes in for weird advertising stunts. Well, when it came to plugging his new Venetian blind department, his enthusiasm nearly landed him in trouble. Handy painted a warning on the tailboard of his truck: "Caution—blind man driving." "Had drivers about a mile," Handy says, "when a state trooper stopped me and told me that sign might cause trouble. Guess he was right. From now on I'll advertise in the Clarion."

From where I sit, I agree—the highway is no place for jokes. We all ought to be considerate of the other fellow when we're driving. In fact, let's respect our neighbor's right of way always. Then when we have differences of opinion—say about the best route to Centerville, or whether beer or buttermilk is better with lunch—there will be less chance of anybody developing any "blind" spots.

Community Methodists Begin Church Loyalty Month

Rally Day will be observed in the Sunday School of Community Methodist Church, Sunday, Oct. 1, with an attendance goal of 300 set for the day. A new class for young adults will meet Sunday for the first time with Mrs. H. E. Garrett as the teacher.

The newly elected officers and teachers of the Sunday School will be inducted by the pastor at the world-wide communion service which will be observed at the 11 o'clock service. Sunday School officers to be installed are: general superintendent, Russell E. Tucker, assistant superintendent, James Wierengo, superintendent of children's division, Mrs. James Wierengo, superintendent of youth division, Pelton Morris; secretary, Mrs. Russell E. Tucker; treasurer, Mrs. Harold L. Royals.

Dr. C. M. Cotton, superintendent of the West Palm Beach district of the Methodist Church, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Cotton was pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church at Tallahassee prior to being moved to West Palm Beach. This service will mark the beginning of a series of special services throughout the month of October. There will be a mens' chorus to assist with the singing, and the junior choir will sing. Prior to the worship hour the juniors will meet at 6:45 at which time an appropriate Bible story will be told and they will sing gospel choruses in preparation for the evening service.

Special emphasis is being placed on church attendance. The service this coming Sunday night has been designated as "official" night. An effort is being made to have all persons who hold an office in the church present at the service. The attendance campaign is being worked on the basis of the "Pew Plan". Twenty or more people have agreed to serve as "pew captains". These captains will endeavor to have their pews filled each Sunday night in October.

Sunday evening from 8:15 to 7:15, open house will be held in order that members of the church may have the opportunity to meet the Sunday School teachers and the new members of the Community Methodist Church. Mrs. James Wierengo is in charge. A cordial invitation is extended to all members and friends of the church.

TAX RISE —

plant he might be for the franchise, instead of opposing it. Dr. L. W. Armstrong asked why the whole area served by Everglades Memorial Hospital and to be served by the proposed health center could not help pay the taxes. A. J. Gamet rose to agree that "everybody" should pay for the center.

Parrish said the operation of the hospital was not related to the clinic, and Simonson emphasized that in the long run the town would benefit by the clinic, with the $6,500 share paid off in one year and the county maintaining it after that. Keen asked whether to avoid "just a few" persons paying the added taxes, a rise in the water rates might not be possible so that the city "would get something from everybody."

"Ridiculous" Rates "Water rates of Pahokee are already ridiculously high," Water Works Commissioner Simonson replied. "And reducing them has become my special project. When the water works is all paid for, it will become one of the mainstays of the City of Pahokee. If water rates were raised, that money could not be put to any use except within the department concerned."

Weeks emphasized that "true evaluation of all homes or assessments would bring sufficient funds for the city. Council agreed. The property owners said nothing."

In answer to a question by Mike Sanders as to what per cent of the local citizens are paying property taxes, Parrish said he thought about 1,000 residents, for a total of some $23,000 income to the city. The "other people" pay the remaining 80 per cent of the taxes, the council president said. "If taxes are reduced, the 20 per cent the first direct benefit, and the other people go right on paying the same," Parrish said.

Discussing the city's inability by law to turn back any of the hospital to the county ("Council didn't buy the hospital—the voters did," Parrish said), Hutton asked if the county wouldn't take all or some of the hospital responsibility. "You couldn't run fast enough to catch 'em," Simonson replied with a laugh.

One Mill Off Upshot of the whole discussion was that the one mill levy of the City Hall, jail and fire station will not be collected this year. A three mill raise in per capita and real property taxes will be three instead of four this year. The new budget is $20,487.90 higher than last year's, with $8,500 for the proposed health center and some $23,000 in new sidewalks and sidewalk accounts payable more than accounting for the increase.

The old budget and the new for each department, in that order, is: administration, $26,420 up to $34,120; fire, $3,550 up to $3,670; parks, $9,285 down to $8,565; cemetery, $1,785.00; identical; sanitation, $15,288.91 up to $17,381.12; police, $25,568.93, down to $25,383.97; street, $41,070. up to $53,629.27. The Water Works budget was adopted at $80,620, about $7,000 over last year with the increases estimated mainly in capital improvements and emergency materials and repairs.

In other actions, Council: ISSUED a beer and wine license to Tom Gaines; AUTHORIZED adoption of a resolution requesting extension of Route 27A from Pensauto to Homestead, to bypass Miami; HEARD that the new traffic light for Barfield Hwy. and First St. is ordered; APPROVED installation of a telephone at Lair Field, for police and physician use, with the athletic fund to pay for the phone and the city for the installation.

TABLED a request for clearance of the area turned over to the Cub Scouts by Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Graham until the next meeting. BACKTRACKED on decisions at the Sept. 13 meeting and began new street lighting on Begon Dr. and relocation of a street light near Grassy Waters Motel, the later pending the consent of all new residents.

DISCUSSED the revisions of the beverage license ordinance with the new provision for police to inspect restaurants before license application.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the lesson. Sermon entitled "Unreality." That real domination and power are derived from God is brought out in the Scriptural passages to be read, including the following statement by Paul (11 Timothy 1:7): "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." From Science and Health the following selections will be among those read (414: 21-23): "The Scripture declares, 'The Lord He is God (good): there is none else beside Him.' Even so, harmony is universal, and discord is unreal."

Pahokee PTA Yearbooks Out

PAHOKEE — The 1954-55 yearbooks for Pahokee Parent-Teacher Association are ready for sale. The yearbooks were sold at a meeting of the PTA, according to James W. Vann, program chairman.

The yearbooks, measuring 8 1/2 by 5 1/2 inches are attractively covered, emphasizing the school colors, blue and white. The PTA yearbook, "The Year of the Child in Your School," is symbolized on the front by an alert and happy-looking boy and girl, each holding a tablet representing a part of the theme. The programs outlined for the various months, have been designed in keeping with the year's theme, and to convey a better understanding to the school patron of the local school operations, Vann said.

One of the most outstanding of the programs will probably be January when a panel discussion on local school problems is scheduled with J. H. Watkins, Supt. of the Board of Public Instruction, George W. Slaton, chairman, T. W. Knight, secretary, and J. H. Watkins, Principal Clyde A. Canipe, participating, with Vann as moderator.

One of the additional features of the yearbook is a list of the faculty members of Pahokee elementary and high school and the students they teach. A foreword has been included by the PTA president, Mrs. John A. Dulany pointing out the emphasis to be put this year on use of CLEWISTON publications and presentations of study groups and panel discussions.

Dream Becomes Actuality

By Dorothy Tucker

BELLE GLADE — Mrs. C. W. McDonald's dream of many years has become reality this fall in the establishment of a kindergarten at City Park.

Children four and five years old are eligible for the program, which is designed for those not enrolled in the regular kindergarten. Mrs. Clarence Throop is supervisor.

Mrs. McDonald, parks director has always had plans for this sort of program, but not until this year has it materialized.

Six Cents A Day

It costs just six cents a day for refreshments—per student at the Park Kindergarten, and each child must furnish his own crayons and color books, Mrs. McDonald said.

The work includes coloring, singing, group games, and playground. The young Kindergarteners (and any under four must be accompanied by an adult) are being taught fair play and courtesy toward others, to give them a sound start toward good citizenship. Before their refreshments, at party time, they are taught to give thanks for the blessings of a fruitful land.

A 20-minute rest period midway in the five-day-a-week, 9 a.m. to noon sessions is enforced. Up to last Friday, 35 children were registered in the City Park Kindergarten.
